CHFA's Homebuyer Education Classes are in High Demand

CHFA sponsored in-person homebuyer education classes are filling up quickly. Do not risk delaying a loan closing due to a borrower not completing a course and receiving a certificate of completion prior to closing. In-person classes are free!

Online classes are also available, but for a fee. Please remember a follow-up phone call with the counseling provider is required before a certificate of completion will be released to the borrower.

Refer your borrowers to a homebuyer education provider early in the process!
